Money Cannot Buy It

For Sight is Priceless!

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

Manufactured by J. E. SPENCER & CO., New York, which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the MOST PERFECT, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.

They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together and derive their name "Diamond" on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

The Scientific Principle on which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are mounted in the finest manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their finish and durability cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark <> stamped on every frame.

LOWELL & SPENCER,

Jewelers and Opticians, are Sole Agents for Bangor, Maine, from whom they can only be obtained. These goods are not supplied to Peddlers, at any price.

THE PRUSSIAN CAMPAIGN.

The following is the German official report of the campaign from the commencement up to the battles around Metz:—

On the 6th of August the Prussian army first found itself between Saarbruck and Saarlouis, facing the second French corps, occupying Spechern heights, near Saarbruck. The 14th division attacked, as the French were preparing to leave on a train, and was supported by the 15th division and some portions of the second army, under Gen. Steinmetz. A bloody victory was achieved and 3000 prisoners captured. Frossard retired from Forbach to Metz, leaving his baggage, private stores of champagne, pontoon train, camp kitchen, etc., etc. Meanwhile the first corps moved on to Metz, waiting for the second army, which had to lay a railroad track as it moved along. On the 14th of August the first army was placed thus;—First corps with second division near Etang, between Metz and Boulay, with another division near Courcelles; between Metz and Avold; the seventh corps with the thirteenth division, near Longe; the fourteenth corps near Donnanville; the eight corps in reserve near the village of Vionville; the third division on the left wing, near St Barbe; its first cavalry near Frontigny; the advance post close to the French line, scarcely a German mile from Metz. While there the main body was encamped on the banks of the Nied. The enemy had occupied with considerable force the small water-course between Columby and Devonilly. The movements of the enemy about four o'clock led to a reconnoissance. An energetic resistance was encountered. The enemy developed great strength and Gen. Manteuffel, of the first corps, and General Zostrow, of the seventh, engaged promptly, Gen. Gatz's brigade, of the seventh corps, in advance. The first division advanced toward Columby and was soon involved in a very violent combat, but maintained itself until the Osten brigade came up, fronting a force far out-numbering it. Zostrow arrived at five o'clock to the east of Columby, taking command-in-chief, and advancing the whole corps. At six o'clock Glumer's division was engaged near Columby, maintaining itself with difficulty against a superior force. At seven o'clock Kamet's division was concentrated at Marseilly. At that moment six batteries were placed in reserve to extricate and sustain Glumer and Zallmits. At 8 o'clock Waymac's brigade was sent to attack the enemy's right near Columby. The brigade, with splendid bravery, drove the enemy, enabling Osten's brigade to occupy the woods on the north of Columby. The 27th brigade remained intact as a reserve. At about 8 30 o'clock the enemy withdrew from all points. In the mean time the 7th corps, with the advance of the first, advanced under cover of cavalry, near to the roads connecting Avold with Metz, and Etang with Metz. The corps opened the attack with the first division near Montbois, and the second, near Noisseville. The enemy in force attempting to advance on the latter point was repulsed with force by the prompt service of the corps of artillery and the reserves of infantry. Darkness closed the fight. On the extreme left the first division of horse approached Merly le Haut, then the battery advancing, with pauses to fire. The 30th regiment of the ninth corps, belonging to the left wing of the second army had advanced on the east on the same line. At the extreme right the third division of cavalry advanced to Aggi where its battery opened on the cavalry north of Sevigny. At 9 o'clock the enemy recoiled at all points, into the left bank of the Moselle, under the guns of Metz, and the pursuit was stopped by a fire from the guns of the fortress. The field was covered with the French dead. Few prisoners were taken and few trophies, owing to the activity of the fortress, the heavy fire of which tore through the Prussian masses. Gen. Steinmetz, who came in, was in time to give the order for the night, and the following day, and to prepare for a renewal of the conflict. The result was that the enemy in one quarter was driven from the river back into the fortress, and in another quarter a large body was left to retreat on Paris and fall into the hands of the second army, which was moving rapidly on the left bank of the Moselle, leaving the first corps and two divisions of cavalry, on the east of Metz. The army next day moved to the left without resistance—passing the Moselle at Arey and Borney. On the 17th the corps was beyond Aube-sur-Moselle, the eight and ninth corps at Gorze, and the second army was marching rapidly toward Metz, on the Verdun road, after victorious fights at Vionville and Flavigny. The task of the first army this day was to act as the right of all the lines of attack, holding the left bank of the Moselle, while the second army moved so that the first would extend from the north towards the east, thus bringing the first and second armies between Metz and Paris. On the 17th no offensive movement was made, the Prussians resting in a sheltered position near Gravellotte, the seventh corps contenting itself with repelling a slight reconnoissance near the forest of Vaux. At this moment Gen. Steinmetz, reconnoitring at the south of Gravellotte, in the forest of Ognath, discovered the enemy, three corps strong, encamped on the heights north at Gravellotte. The farms of St. Hubert and Point du Jour were occupied. About noon Gen. Steinmetz, hearing cannonade at Verneville, and having been advised that the head of the 9th corps was engaged, gave orders to resume the attack. The 7th corps deployed on the south and east of the heights of Gravellotte. A formidable artillery practice followed, presenting an imposing spectacle. Fifty cannon, presently augmented to eighty, opened on the enemy's batteries, while advancing steadily along the high road was a mitrailleuse, whence a fire was opened on the reconnoitring party. Strong outposts, well sustained, were placed. The enemy made no serious attack that day. On the 18th the first army remained quiet, the enemy equally so, the second army advanced to Vionville and Marie aux Chenes to renew the fight up the hill. Steinmetz and staff remained by the batteries under a shower of projectiles, but hardly had an hour passed before the French batteries grew silent and the French began to retire. The infantry of the 7th corps, in the mean time, rested in a woody gorge between Gravellotte and Point du Jour, but Goltz's brigade, posted near Ars, to guard the Moselle valley, was already engaged in a combat. It took the village of Vaux and the heights of Tossy, where it sustained itself. In the mean time, the seventh and eight corps coming from Rezonville opened the attack with heavy artillery, while the first division of cavalry took the first sheltered position behind it and the infantry attacked the enemy in the woods at Genivans. Again the enemy's guns were silenced, while the infantry encountered an obstinate resistance in the Genivans woods, where the fight continued for hours. Owing to the density of the wood the hostile forces intermixed, and the Germans and French frequently fired into their own ranks. Emerging at last from the wood, the Prussians carried the heights and the town of St. Hubert with severe loss. Further advance on this side was impossible. The French artillery was withdrawn, and the Prussians became silent. About 3 o'clock, supposing the enemy gone, Gen. Steinmetz ordered Hartmann's cavalry to cross the defile with two horse batteries and the 4th Uhlans and pursue. This was effected at 4 P. M. The pursuers found that the enemy had not retreated, but was sheltered from the cannonade by the troops which had advanced. Our men encountered a murderous fire from Chasse[illegible] [illegible] mitrailleuses. The dead [illegible] cumbered the roads [illegible] soon reopened, [illegible] The duel continued till [illegible] on the field the [illegible] fell back. Reinforcements happily arrived, the King having approached and dispatched the Pomeranian corps, that had never been under fire, to the front. Its aid was decisive. Rushing forward and firing it carried the heights, winning the day.—On the 19th, the enemy took refuge in Metz.

PURE TEAS.

Just Received

FROM JAPAN AND CHINA,

—BY THE—

Mutual Store Company,

No. 22 & 24 Central Street.

Large invoices of fresh and very elegant flavored New Teas, imported by the most direct route, and selected by an American agent of the highest integrity and undoubted skill, sent out to China expressly to guard against, and if possible, protect the American consumers of this delicious plant from the persistent and consummate frauds practiced by the Chinaman, in curing and packing Teas for the American Market. And most wonderfully has he succeeded in preventing and exposing John Chinaman's rascality, as one trial of our Teas will well attest, prices lower than can be found elsewhere in New England!

ALSO,

PURE COFFEES,

of the choicest grades, imported expressly for the "Mutual Store Co.," from "Mocha," "Java," "Ceylon," "Rio," and "Porto Cabello," and can be sold for one profit only, which brings our Coffee lower in price than can be found at any other Store in the Country.

Our Roasted Coffee

is all prepared by an American House of long standing, and whose reputation for honesty and determined integrity, is above all reproach, or suspicion, and are not allowed to pass through the hands of the Chinamen, where they would be sure to receive the villainous adulteration. Sure to suit. Try them. Our are already well known in this community, and are well appreciated. N. C.

We have also a very large and carefully selected Stocks of all kinds of goods entering into the stock of first class Grocery Store, and a customer at our Store can buy not only Tea, Coffee, Spices, Saleratus, and a few such articles, but also, Molasses of all grades, Syrups, Pork and Lard, Kerosene Oil, Flour, Meal, Butter, Eggs, and all kinds of country produce, everything in the Wooden Ware line, from a ten cent Basket to a Clothes horse, also, English fish, English Pickles, English Mustards, English Sauce for your fresh meat, Sardines, Lobsters and Oysters in cans. Tomatoes in cans, and very cheap, all kinds of canned fruit; Jellies in Tumblers, a large stock of Raspberry Shrub, just the thing now wanted (exempt from Wingate), Burnett's, Knights', Lewis', and other flavoring extracts, Preston's Cocoas, and finally, everything pertaining to a real

DEMOCRATIC EFFRONTERY.

For cool assurance and the reckless perversion of the most palpable facts, commend us to the Democracy. The utter shamelessness with which they strive to force the responsibility of their own crimes upon the Republican party, and to convince those who are too ignorant to know better that the burdens incurred in crushing a rebellion incited, encouraged and sustained by Democrats, are chargeable to those who have defended and restored the integrity of the nation, is only equaled by the audacity displayed in requesting the suffrages of the people for men who, by their cowardice and treachery in the days of the country's peril, have made their names detestable and forfeited every moral claim to the privileges of American citizenship.

Coolly ignoring the great and costly struggle inaugurated by Southern Democrats and cheered on by their Northern allies, they persistently assert that the expenses of the Government under Republican rule are enormously extravagant, and institute comparison with those of Buchanan's administration in support of the accusation. It is well understood that the expenses incident to the debts incurred in suppressing the Rebellion are not the ordinary expenditures of Government, but an extra burden imposed upon us by the very men who now make it the subject of complaint.

The ordinary expenses of the National Administration under President Grant, instead of exceeding in proportion those during Buchanan's term, are considerably less. From a statement made out in the Treasury Department and officially promulgated, it is found that the last year of Buchanan's administration cost the people $2,01 for each man, woman, and child in the country; while taking the expenses of the past year, estimating on a basis of forty millions of population and, reducing the sum to a gold basis, the expense per head amounts to only $1.64.

In Buchanan's time the receipts and expenditures of the Treasury were both in gold, or coin, exclusively, while the war itself cost in paper one-third, if not a half, more than it would, had specie payment been possible; and it is an especial grievance that the Democracy point to the result of their own machinations and treason as an evidence of dishonesty among loyal and patriotic men.

Another favorite topic is the decline in our commerce, which they also charge upon the party that alone raised its arm to defend it, while Democratic pirates and the stagnation of a Democratic war were working its destruction. In this matter they have reached the very sublimity of assurance in arraigning our able and zealous Representative—who has given earnest and influential support to every measure calculated to benefit our shipping interests—as unfaithful to the wants of that branch of industry, while they present to the people of this district as a trustworthy champion, MARCELLUS EMERY, who encouraged the rebellion which ruined our commerce, filling the columns of his paper with fulsome eulogies upon the gallantry of the Pirate Semmes, and laudations of the career of his cruiser, the "Alabama, in her cowardly destruction of the unarmed vessels of our citizens.

As the voters march to the polls on Monday next, the Democratic candidate for Representative should stand by the ballot-box and hold up to the gaze of the people some such honest declaration of principles as the following from one of Mr. EMERY's editorials, published a day or two after the fire from rebel batteries had compelled the lowering of the national flag on Fort Sumter:

"ALL HONOR TO THE GALLANT DEMOCRACY OF PENNSYLVANIA!" Their Representatives in the Legislature have NOBLY GIVEN UTTERANCE TO THEIR SENTIMENTS IN VOTING TO A MAN, against the Tory bill of Gov. Curtin, appropriating $1,000,000 TO RAISE AN ARMY for the SUBJUGATION OF SOVEREIGN STATES. The brave TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DEMOCRATS IN THE OLD KEYSTONE STATE WILL NOT LIFT AN ARM AGAINST THEIR GALLANT BRETHREN OF THE SOUTH, who are only DEFENDING their homes and their firesides, their liberty and their lives against the ASSAULTS OF AN INVADING FOE."

How many of the citizens and citizen soldiers of Maine are ready to "fall in" under that banner?

The nomination of General Roberts who was in the war through the McClellan campaign, says the Kennebec Journal, is making a great flutter among the Democratic politicians. They are all coming out with bran new records, showing how patriotic they were in the war, and putting on a military air as they walk the streets. Their friends who supported them on their peace, anti-war, copperhead record, can hardly recognize them in their new coats.

LET THE FIGURES SPEAK. The National Debt was paid off during the month of August, says the N. Y. Tribune, at the rate of about half a million dollars a day. During the past six months the daily reduction has been more than $448,000. And during every day since President Grant began his economical administration the debt has been lessened—and with it the taxes and other burdens of the people—by more than $300,000. Here are the figures:

Debt decrease during August	$12,464,935 09
Debt dec. since March 1, 1870	82,497,320 70
Debt dec. since March 4, 1869,	169,543,109 10

Benjamin T. Biggs, who has been nominated by the Democrats of Delaware for re-election to Congress, in accepting the favor wrote the following classic sentiments: "In the presence of this people and Almighty God, I declare the Fifteenth Amendment a monstrous fraud. Hear, O earth, and give ear, O heavens; in the Senate of the United States sits a dirty, thieving, lousy nigger preacher combing his lousy wool and his august body." How fully this style of individual is appreciated by the Democracy is shown by the fact that in 1868 the Honorable Biggs was elected by a majority of three thousand in a total vote of twenty thousand.

WAR NOTES.

The Germans are angry with England and Italy for furnishing arms to France.——The N. Y. World in its editorial, says that the surrender of Napoleon III is the surrender, not of the man, but of the system. It is a surrender in which all the world may rejoice, save perchance the very monarch who receives it.——London was wild with delight over the Prussian triumph. The streets for two hours were filled with excited multitudes and Englishmen congratulated each other as if there had been an English victory.——One of the Berlin journals of [illegible] says that Europe must familiarize itself with the idea that Prussia, in the spirit of self protection, seeks to rectify the French frontier.——The American Legation in Paris has established an auxiliary bureau at the railway depot to furnish passports to the numerous Germans about departing for their homes.——The Pall Mall Gazette says if the Emperor hopes by a hastily patched up peace to transfer the throne to his son, it is the last and greatest delusion of his life of delusions. Imperialism is dead, but an Orleans government or a Republic can hardly begin by a surrender. The London Echo says: The Emperor's last act does what is possible to redeem his fault in surrendering himself to the conqueror, admitting his own defeat, which may help to avert that of France.——The Gaulois denies that the Emperor had returned to Paris, and that he was privately advised by Trochu to go back to the army.——The apartments of Prince Napoleon in the Palais Royal have been prepared for wounded French soldiers.——The Moniteur positively refutes the assertion that the Prince Royal of Italy has felicitated Prussia on their triumphs over the French.——Prince de Joinville writing from Belgium, on Saturday, said: "The battle continues. We have taken 30 cannon. Bazaine marches towards McMahon. Vive la France."——A correspondent writes of the close of the battle of Sedan: At 3 o'clock the French line, which had previously stood firm, wavered and immediately afterwards broke. The battle then became a rout. McMahon is reported seriously wounded during the last attack. The French now left everything, throwing their arms away, while the Prussian forces resolutely pressed forward bent upon cutting off their retreat towards Belgium. The Prussians used the bayonet with terrible effect. Night closed on the rout, leaving the Prussians gathering in large numbers around Sedan. The Emperor remained at Sedan throughout the battle.——The French Ministry conclude their appeal to the people as follows: The resources of France still remain so strong, that with energy and the help of the nation we may yet have the last word. Let us hope that God will help us and drive the enemy from our soil.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

The Republican candidate for the Legislature for the Lincolnville district, is Henry Cresturo.

Count De Flavault de la Billarderie, Grand Chancellor of the Legion of Honor, died in Paris on Saturday.

Maine Classical School.

A delegation from the locating committee of the proposed Maine Classical School have visited the several places from which offers for the location of the School have been received, and have examined the buildings and grounds which have been offered. The decision in regard to the location will be deferred until the 1st of October, to give opportunity for individuals and communities to make further proposals. The Committee feel that the duty imposed on them is an important one, and as the matter now stands, an exceedingly delicate one. They wait in the hope that such an offer will come to them from some place where the people are awake to the importance of having the School located in their vicinity, as will make the location an easy one.

All communications addressed to the undersigned, at Bangor, will receive attention.

The Shivering Season.

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of Providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is consoling to know that where time has not been thus taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some measure, thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and a cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specifics (including quinine), usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable.

MONTMEDY still HOLDS OUT

THE BATTLE OF SEDAN.

New York, Sep 5. The World's correspondent telegraphs from Namur, Belgium, the following sketch of the latter portion of the battle at Sedan, not heretofore published:—

The French in the hills west of the city too their ground fiercely till two o'clock in the afternoon, three times repulsing, with heavy loss, their assailants. They were finally pushed back here also, and at about 3:30 they fell back, sullenly firing, steadily though little too rapidly upon the river road to Sedan, closely followed up by the Germans, who were pressing on to meet the columns emerging from under sombre clouds of smoke which enveloped the woods of Givonne at Bazilles. The battle waved still, the ground there favoring the French artillery, which kept up a murderous and almost literally intermittent fire with extraordinary accuracy. I think the German losses here were the heaviest of the day, and from what I myself saw, I should put them down at from 10,000 to 12,000 in killed and wounded at this point alone.

THE EMPIRE FALLEN.

New York, Sept. 5. The Courier des Etats Unis this morning accepts the surrender of Sedan as the termination of the war, and says it will be useless for France to make further resistance. Sedan, like Woerth, was lost through or treachery. As for the Imperial Government says the Courier, its fate is sealed. Our first defeats were the signal for its fall. Napoleon III. is but a phantom and his dynasty expires with him. What will succeed him is the secret of the future.

GEN. FAILLEY'S INCOMPETENCE

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL A PRISONER.

London, Sept. 5. An Amsterdam telegram reports the first announcement that the Prince Imperial escaped into Belgium is erroneous. He, too, surrendered at Sedan with the Emperor and McMahon's army. The total number of prisoners by this surrender reaches 120,000

THE EMPRESS TO JOIN HER HUSBAND.

Paris, Sept. 5. The Empress Eugenie having received assurance from the Prussian Government that she will not be treated as a prisoner, has consented to join her husband and son, who was also surrendered with his father at Sedan. She will leave for Prussia as soon as her arrangements can be perfected.

TROCHU AS DICTATOR.

Gen. Trochu will at once be made temporary Dictator and Paris will be defended to the last. The people say that the war is not yet ended nor will it be so long as Prussian soldiers are within the confines of France.— The news here is very meagre, but the main facts are known, and although there is considerable excitement the people are not near so much moved by the news as might have been expected.

London, Sept. 5. A dispatch dated Carlsruhe, Sept. 3, states that on the previous day the cellars of had been inundated by the rising of the river Rhine, causing great suffering and destruction of property. The magnificent cathedral is partially destroyed.

THE EMPIRE ENDED—DISPATCH FROM MINISTER WASHBURNE.

Washington, Sept. 5. Minister Washburne telegraphs that the Empire is ended and that the excitement in Paris is intense.

RIOTS IN PARIS.

Paris, Sept. 5. Paris is in a state of riotous excitement. Crowds are tearing down the imperial arms and destroying the golden eagles of the empire. Fears are entertained that the city will soon be at the mercy of the mobs.

NAPOLEON DETHRONED.

Paris, Sept. 5—3 p. m. It is now impossible to reach the Corps Legislatif owing to the enormous crowds surrounding the building.— It is reported that a vote declaring that the Emperor has forfeited his claim to the throne, has been carried by yeas 185 to nays 0. The people are wild with excitement and are marching through the streets bearing placards with the vote of the Corps Legislatif inscribed thereon. Shouts of are heard on all sides. The regiments are passing into the city and received by the populace with deafening shouts of "Vive la Ligne!" "Vive la Republique!" The National Guard reverse their arms as a sign of amity. The troops are singing

"VIVE LA REPUBLIQUE!"

"MOURIR POUR PATRIE."

The scene is one of indescribable excitement. But one sentiment seems to be paramount.

RESISTANCE TO INVASION.

"All the nation to the rescue," about the people and the troops join enthusiastically.— The Garde Nationale say that order must be preserved. The people evince but little desire to create trouble. All seem overjoyed at the forfeiture. Crowds are beginning to tear down the imperial arms from the fronts of shops and there are fears that this may lead to serious trouble as the National Garde are not inclined to permit any disorders.

THE SURGING CROWDS.

Paris, Sept. 5—1.30 p. m. This city now presents one of the most imposing popular displays ever witnessed here. Thousands of armed citizens are marching to the Corps Legislatif, surrounding the building amid the frenzied huzzas of the countless masses which are filling every avenue leading to the hall. Before the residence of Gen. Trochu in the Louvre, there is a compact mass of people awaiting the action of the Governor.

AROUND THE TUILLERIES

there is a strong military force guarding against any possible display of popular indignation. Hundreds of thousands of citizens are still passing toward the Corps Legislatif, the Place de la Concorde is now one mass of human beings.

1.30 p. m. On the departure of the Deputies from the Corps Legislatif took place around the building, the National Garde fraternizing with the troops and the people. Thousands of the guards rushed into the hall, but were persuaded to retire by Gambetta, who seems to have great influence over the people. Crowds outside are

SINGING THE MARSEILLAISE

and "Vive la Republique!"

There is intense excitement and constant noise of voices that drowns all other sounds. There were no dangerous elements visible until the crowd reached the Rue Castiglione, where they began to tear down the imperial arms and tearing from the [illegible] of the National Garde the golden eagles of France, and from the walls and signs the medals bearing the Imperial effigy. The soldiers also joined in the demonstration. The National Garde were bearing arms to repress the disorder if it takes a more serious turn. Older citizens are becoming impressed with the idea that there may be danger, as the mob is becoming more and more excited.

Paris, Sept. 2.

AN INTERVIEW

has taken place between Napoleon and the King of Prussia, for the purpose of deciding upon the future residence of the Emperor, one of the German fortresses has been fixed upon, probably Mayence. There is so much confusion in the city, and such immense crowds about the Corps Legislatif, that it is impossible at present to get a faithful account of the business transacted by the Deputies. It is now reported in good authority that after the vote of forfeiture the majority retired, and the members of the Left, and the Left Centre remained, constituting a Provisional Government, and naming for it the following persons:—Jules Favre, Gambetta, Jules Simon, Keratry, Picard, Pelletan, and Jules Ferry.

Paris, 4. The Gaulois gives the following extract text letter from Napoleon to King William:

"Having no command in the army and having placed all my authority in the hands of the Emperor as Regent, I here with surrender my sword to the King of Prussia."

The total number of French soldiers who fled into Belgian territory, is believed to be about 15,000.

EXCITEMENT IN FRANCE.

Paris, 5.—3 a. m. The manifestations were kept up during the entire night, the crowds demanding forfeiture. Gen. Trochu was shouted for and on appearing, he spoke to the crowd saying he had taken the oath, and as an honest man he could not break it. The Chambers must answer them. At midnight crowds assembled before the Corps Legislatif building, and shouted that the Emperor having fallen into the hands of the enemy, it was now time for the people to rise and chase out the invaders. The Corps however, adjourned till today, the assurance having been given that the day should not pass without some determination of France.

Special to N. Y. Herald.

Paris, 4—310 p. m. Today Count Palikao brought in a bill to the Corps Legislatif instituting a council of government and national defence, consisting of five members, to be elected by the Corps Legislatif. Ministers to be appointed with the approval of the members, and this Council and Count Palikao to Lieut. and Lieutenant General.

The following are the terms of the resolutions introduced by M. Thiers, and adopted by the Imperial Council of Ministers:

In view of existing circumstances, the Chamber appoints a Commission of government and national defense, the Constituent Assembly to be convened as soon as circumstances will permit.

Berlin, 4. The Queen has received the following telegram from the King:

"What a thrilling moment was the meeting with Napoleon, he is cast down, but dignified in his bearing and resigned. I gave him Wilhelmshohe, near Cassel, as the place where he is to stay. My reception by the troops may be better imagined than described."

Brussels 4—Noon. It is positively asserted that the Emperor has arrived at Bouillon, escorted by a detachment of Prussians and French. Liege has been selected as his place of detention. Several of Eugenie's ladies of honor have arrived at Brussels.

Paris 6—0.12 p. m. Mobs continue to tear down signs containing Imperial arms and medals, and in some cases the people have climbed up to the highest stone to tear off of the theatres the word "Imperial." Police are no longer to be seen in the streets.

Washington, D. C., Sept 5. The following official dispatch has just been received at the Legation of the North German Union:" The Emperor Napoleon has declared that his captivity prevents him from negotiating for peace. The French Government being at Paris, the war will be continued

[illegible]

Paris, Sept. 5. The following circular dispatch has been sent by the Minister of the Interior to the Prefects of Departments:

Gen. Trochu, Governor of Paris, has been appointed a member of the Government of national defence. He is installed in the Hotel de Ville. He takes the portfolio of war, and his colleagues have conferred on him the Presidency.

(Signed) LEON GAMBETTA.

London Sept. 5. The officials of the Provisional Government at Paris are distributed as follows:

Minister of Interior, Leon Gambetta.
" Foreign Affairs, Pier [illegible] Mayne.
" Pub. Instruction, Jules Simon.
" Justice, Emmanuel Cremieux.
" War, General Trochu.
President of the Council, M. Garnier Secretary General of the Provisional Government, Arago, Taverne.

Seals have been placed on the doors of the Legislatif.

London, Sept. 7. The Prussians were reported at St. Quentin.

Montmedy still holds out.

The city of Sedan was burned in Thursday's fight.

A dispatch from Berlin says the Germans have discovered and destroyed the hidden aqueduct on which Metz depends for water. They also captured Bazaine's dispatch bag, the contents of which show that the French are in a dependent condition.

The Orleans Princes are expected in Paris Tuesday.

CITY AFFAIRS.

At a special meeting of the two Boards of the City Council, called by the Mayor, was held last evening at which the special Committee on the subject of widening Fore St, Union St., and Pickering Square, reported in favor of widening said street and square, with an order to lay out same. The report was laid on the table in the Board of Aldermen and said report ordered to be published.

Application of Geo. W. Pickering, for leave to remove the "Billing's Stable" near Main St., to the line of Main, Middle, or Columbia streets. Laid on table.

An order was passed by the Board of Aldermen, rescinding the order passed at last stated meeting, authorizing the sale of a sufficient amount of the State of Maine bonds to meet the interest on the city bonds, issued to the B. & P. Railroad Co. falling due in October next.

The Common Council, having adjourned, this order did not reach that board.

Petition of Geo. L. Brown & als. for extension of gravel walk on Hammond Street. Referred to the Committee on Street Highways.

Adjourned to Thursday evening next, at 7½ o'clock.

[The Report of the special Committee, in favor of widening Pickering Square, &c., will be published to-morrow.—ED.]

[Written for the Whig and Courier.

GENERAL JOHN F. APPLETON.

The Whig & Courier of Friday, announced the death of Gen. John F. Appleton, at the residence of his father. How many remembrances sad and happy of the days, that are gone that announcement recalls to memory, of many who read this brief tribute to his memory.

Gen. Appleton has grown up from childhood among us, and of a brave, generous and companionable nature he was from my earliest recollection a general favorite. He was industrious at school, and gave early promise of fine powers as an advocate. From an early age he showed a warm sympathy for the oppressed wherever found, and among his boy companions advocated with warmth the freedom of the slave when such sentiments were most unpopular.

In the spring of 1856, at the graduation exercises of the Boy's High School, he took the first prize for declamation. He preserved a high character in his College course at Bowdoin, where he graduated in the class of 1860. After leaving College he read law with James S. Rowe Esq, but his heart was in the war, and finally throwing his books aside, he raised a company and entered the 12th Maine Regiment as a Captain, and started on the Butler expedition for Ship Island, in the New England Division. For a long time, the 12th Maine as a regiment saw no active duty. It remained at New Orleans, during the summer of 1862, inactive, and it was not until the arrival of Gen. Banks in the winter of 1863, and '64, that it saw much military duty in the field. After the arrival of Gen. Banks in the Department of the Gulf, there was much activity in raising colored troops, but there existed a strong prejudice at the time against them among the officers.

The few regiments raised by Gen. Butler, had been officered by men of no social standing, and it was the common talk that no gentleman would be an officer in a "nigger regiment". Even Gen. Weitzel, afterwards a Commander of a Negro Corps, and a warm advocate of their efficiency openly expressed, his dislike to them, and helped to keep alive the sentiment against accepting positions in colored regiments. The officers of these regiments in consequence of this feeling were for a time generally ostracised socially.

One day Capt. Appleton spoke to me of his intention to take a negro regiment, and in answer to my question whether he could stand the social ostracism attending it, said that it would be a most trying position, but that when he thought of the motives that prompted him to go to the war; when he felt the necessity of arming the negroes and of having them well commanded—and convinced as he was, that he could be more useful in a colored regiment, as the negroes were then situated, than elsewhere, he thought it would be unpatriotic in him to refuse a command, if offered him. And so against the protest of his associates, enduring the ridicule of many with whom he had served so long, he took a despised command.

The Colored Regiment to which he was appointed was not fully raised, and by accepting his position at the time it was first offered, he would escape the fighting at Port Hudson; and so remaining with his old Company a Captain with a Colonel's commission in his pocket, he marched down the Lafourche, up the Teche, and through the Red River country with Gen Banks, until the junction with Gen. Augur was effected, and Port Hudson surrounded by the Union army.

Most gallantly he served his country, through that trying siege. Day after day he saw the army wasting; he saw the members of his company and regiment lessening each succeeding day. He witnessed the slaughter of our troops on the 27th of May and the 14th of June, but ever brave and hopeful, he encouraged his men and lived through that horrid butchery until the final triumph, and then the brave young Col, having proved his constancy in the field, assumed a deserved command, and in his position socially showed a moral courage, superior to his heroism in the field.

On the 27th of May, while our soldiers were struggling through the thorns and underbrush, cut down by rebel bullets at every step, a small detachment of men reached the ditch in front of the rebel works and there a few brave men, the remnant of a brigade, exhausted, stopped. But Capt. Appleton alone among ten thousand who fought that day, mounted the rebel parapet and stood there alone facing the whole rebel army, a mark for a thousand rifles, stood there powerless except to die. The following evening while talking the affair over, he told me that at the time of his greatest danger, this passage occurred to him with great force, and he found strength in dwelling upon it. "Not a sparrow falls to the ground without the knowledge of your Heavenly Father, and ye are of more value than many sparrows." A Confederate officer told me after the surrender, that as he saw that young man standing there so calm and brave he could not bear to see him die, and he told his men not to fire upon him.

In the prime of opening manhood, with fine talents, high social position and bright prospects one of Maine's noblest young men has gone from us.

About six months ago Gen. Appleton was appointed and confirmed by the Senate of the United States, District Judge of Eastern Texas, which appointment he was obliged to decline by reason of his failing health.

I add a copy of a part of the letter of Gen. Appleton to Hon. John A. Peters, declining his appointment.

HON. JOHN A. PETERS:—

My Dear Sir, If you will think of what the emotions of a man sick and weary of vain search for health, a stranger among strangers, must be, when he receives tidings that his friends far away have been mindful of him beyond his deserts, and have shown by their acts the greatest confidence in him, calling around them their friends and vouching to them for the sick man's integrity, and general fitness for a responsible and most enviable place, you will understand somewhat of my feelings on reading the dispatch Mr. Blaine so kindly sent me, announcing my appointment as U. S. District Judge, for the Eastern District of Texas. But you can, I think, hardly appreciate them in their full force, by an effort of the imagination for a man with my complaint, losing in strength, in will, power, and sometimes I fear in mind. I shall in all those emotions of the tender and more susceptible nature. I need hardly state then how deeply obligated and grateful I feel to you for your active interest in my welfare; how proud I am of your confidence, and how highly I esteem all your efforts for me, resulting in such glorious fruits for my taking, and I shall only say now, that to decline it is one of the hardest duties I ever performed for the temptation to listen to all the whisperings of a consumptive's hope, which deserts him only with his latest breath, and accept was great, and this was a very great cause of my delay in writing you and my other good friends Messrs. Hamlin and Blaine.

COMRADE.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—Fall styles begin to appear.

—There seems to be no doubt that "the drouth is broken."

—Obese people are talking of a Fat Men's Convention to be held in this city when the weather gets reliably cool.

RIPE GRAPES. Mr. G. P. Smith has fully ripe grapes, Hartford Prolifics, raised this season in the open air.

—The Republicans of Hampden have nominated Benj. B. Thomas Jr as their candidate for Representative to the Legislature.

—Another excursion to Mattawamkeag over the E. & N. A. Railway is announced to come off on Friday next. Full particulars in the advertisement.

—Union Lodge of Good Templars will make an excursion to Mattawamkeag on Friday, by the E. & N. A. Railway. Fare for the round trip one dollar each.

—Four hundred and nineteen Republicans attended the caucus at Dexter on Saturday to nominate a candidate for Representative to the Legislature. Nathaniel Dustin Esq. of Dexter received the nomination.

—Prof. Leon, well known as an accomplished French Teacher, publishes a notice in another column interesting to persons desirous of obtaining a knowledge of the French language.

—A dizzy individual was raving around the foot of Exchange street last evening and assaulted a young man, who was attempting to take him home. The drunken man came out second best, with most of the clothing torn from his body.

—The Annual Exhibition of the Bangor Horticultural Society will open in City Hall Wednesday afternoon and continue until Friday evening. Exhibitors are reminded that to compete for premiums, all articles must be brought in the first day.

—The preliminary rehearsals of the Penobscot Musical Association will commence next Monday evening, Sept. 12th, in Concert Hall, under the direction of Mr. Davenport. This will afford a good opportunity for practice and save much drilling next month.

—In our report of Mr. Paine's remarks at the Chamberlain meeting Saturday night, instead of saying that Mr. Paine "said that the call was unexpected," we should have said: "Mr. Paine said that he did not expect to be called on to open the meeting."

—Free return tickets over the E. & N. A., Maine Central and P. & K. Railroads can be obtained by those who attend the State Sunday School Convention at Bath, of the Secretary of the Convention.

—Steamer Daniel Webster, the old time favorite in the waters of the Penobscot, is now in the Dry Dock at the Cape undergoing repairs preparatory to once more being put into active service.

—We learn that the Second Baptist Church in this city will observe the anniversary of its 25th year on Sunday, Sept. 11. Sermons will be preached by the former, and the present pastors. The evening will be observed as a Sunday School anniversary, and a re-union will be held on Monday evening.

—Two gentlemen were thrown from their carriage last evening, by running over a pile of gravel dumped in front of the sidewalk on Main street, near the Unitarian church. We believe they escaped further injury than a few bruises.

—A top buggy was overturned on the corner of Jefferson and Centre streets yesterday afternoon and a gentleman and lady who were riding in it, were thrown out. They escaped with a few bruises, but the carriage was demolished and the horse ran through the streets to his stable, doing no further damage on the way with the exception of knocking a spoke out of the wheel of a carriage he met.

—At the meeting of the National Musical Congress, held in New York, three days of last week, Dr. L. H. Southard, Principal of Peabody Institute, Baltimore, and who is to have direction of the session of the Penobscot Musical Association, Oct. 4 to 7 in this city, took a prominent part. He was appointed chairman of the Congress, on the first day; gave a lecture on some special departments of music, during the session, and took part in the discussions.

—Mrs. C. A. Barry, (formerly Mrs. Cary,) who has just returned from Europe, receiving great applause for her singing in Florence and other cities, is engaged to be present at the session of the Penobscot Musical Association next month; also Mr. Winch, who now stands at the head of the Tenor singers in Boston. Mrs. H. M. Smith, Soprano, and Mr. John F. Winch, Basso, have been previously announced. These will form a great attraction to the occasion.

—A grand vocal and instrumental concert, by the Bangor Cornet Band, assisted by Miss Hattie E. Safford, Prima Donna, and Mr. M. W. Whitney, of Boston, will be given in Norumbega Hall on Sept. 20th, as a complimentary benefit to Mr. Harlow, leader of the Band. Our citizens will no doubt give the entertainment the large patronage it deserves, and thus testify to their appreciation of our fine band and its accomplished leader. Mr. Harlow has had a number of advantageous offers to go to other places, but has refused them on account of the interest he feels in the success of his band, and he deserves a rousing benefit.

DEATHS IN BANGOR. Mr. Wm. Lowney, Undertaker, informs us that during the past three months 60 deaths have occurred in this city; 21 in June, 20 in July and 19 in August. This list does not include Catholics.) The deaths were caused as follows: Consumption, 1[illegible]; cholera infantum, 6; cholera morbus, 4; scarlet fever, 5; dropsy, 2; tumor, 3; old age, 2; whooping cough, 2; heart disease, 2; drowning, 2; internal injuries resulting from falls, 2; paralysis, 2; kidney complaint, 1; fits, 1; congestion of the brain, 1; brain fever, 1; diabetes, 1; cancer, 1; congestion of the lungs, 1, infants still-born or died soon after birth, 4.

ASSAULT. Sunday evening, as Capt. C. J Noble, of the firm of Noble & Littlefield, was crossing the railroad bridge over the Kenduskeag stream, on one of the narrow sidewalks, he was set upon by two burly Irishmen, who were fighting drunk. One seized him in front and the other came up behind and grasped his shoulders. They demanded the pipe he was smoking, and upon his refusing to give it up, endeavored to throw him over the railing into the stream. Fortunately, several gentlemen came to the Captain's rescue and the ruffians finding that they were getting into close quarters, retreat [illegible].

A COMPLICATED CASE. The case of [illegible] vs. Wm. Betts in the Police Court yesterday showed a most complicated state of affairs. It appears that respondent who lives in Hampden traded horses with another man giving an animal which belonged to his Betts' wife in exchange. Man No. 2, traded the horse he got from Betts with man No. 3 Mr. Betts, learning the condition of affairs, recovered her horse from No. 3 by a replevin writ, and now No. 3 complains that Betts made the first trade under fraudulent representations. The Court was [illegible] of that opinion, and Betts was required to give bonds in the sum of $[illegible] for his appearance at the next term of the S. J. Court.

WOOD, BISHOP & CO.'S FOUNDRY. We recently made a visit to the iron foundry of Messrs. Wood, Bishop & Co., on the Hampden Road, and found the establishment as busy as a bee-hive. The cupola furnace was in full blast, melting a hundred-weight of iron per minute, and the workmen were hastening to and fro with pots of molten metal in a manner to startle the nerves of timid people. In all the other departments the business was visible, and we were convinced that the Foundry is no place for lazy people. In 1840, Henry A. Wood, the head of the firm, opened a more [illegible] Hardware Store on the site of Mercantile Block. From that small beginning, the business has grown without a single halt, until now the establishment occupies three stories of the Mercantile Block, three stories of a brick block on Broad Street, and the large foundry, covering an acre of ground, mentioned above. In 1851, Wm. H. Bishop entered into partnership with Mr. Wood, in 1864. John F. Coll was admitted, and in 18[illegible] C. H. Wood, so that the firm now consists of four partners. Two clerks and three porters are employed in the store, 10 hands in the tin shop over the store, and 37 in the Foundry—the pay roll amounting to $[illegible] per month.

The firm formerly owned a foundry at Kenduskeag, but in 18[illegible] they purchased that on the Hampden Road, which they have rebuilt and enlarged, so that now it is admirably arranged for their business. Power is supplied by a [illegible] H. P. engine. The old iron is dumped through trap doors in the sidewalk to a bin underneath, whence it is easily conveyed to the furnace. The floor of the foundry proper, is 135 feet long. The sand for moulds comes from Albany, and is ground, dried and sifted on the premises. After the castings are cooled and cleaned, they are taken to the second story where they are placed on shelves partitioned off, so that all the parts for one style of stove are in a separate bin; then when needed they are set up. The foundry turns out about 5000 stoves per annum, all from patterns belonging exclusively to the firm. Twenty-three kinds of cook stoves and 21 other styles are made here, as well as wood furnaces and hollow ware. In the tin shop, all kinds of tin ware are constructed, while at the store every variety of hard ware is kept for sale. The firm do a large wholesale business in this, and other New England States, and in the West.

NORTHPORT CAMPMEETING. The Campmeeting which has been held at Northport during the past week, closing on Saturday morning, has been unusually successful, not only in the point of numbers present and the propitious weather, but in the good order that was observed and the deep religious feeling manifested. The number of society tents upon the ground was quite as large, if not larger than usual, while in addition to these the number of private and family tents was very much beyond what it had been in any preceding year. We visited the ground on Thursday, and at no time since the Northport camp ground have been opened have we seen so many persons present as upon that day. The large Fairy of the Wave with the tugs Ralph Ross and Tiger carried down a large party from this city and towns on the river. The steamers Chas. Houghton, of Bath, and Pioneer, of Vinalhaven, came heavily loaded, while schooners, sloops and small craft of various sorts and large numbers added to swelling the multitude of attendants at the meeting. Besides these modes of conveyance, thousands came by teams from the adjacent and neighboring towns. Notwithstanding the immense crowd present, there was nothing approaching rowdyism, or disorder upon the grounds—a marked improvement in this respect over some former years; but we think there has been a steady advance in this direction year by year, as those who would be guilty of breaches of decorum find the meeting to be sustained by the community at large, and that every attempt at a disturbance meets with a sure and speedy punishment. Many improvements have been made upon the grounds, and there is yet room for more, particularly in facilities for landing. The idea of assessing all who visit the grounds a small sum, is a good one, for while the sum is so small it is not felt by the visitors, in the aggregate it amounts to considerable, and will go a good way toward making much needed improvements and keeping the grounds in order.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage, and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron), and you will feel rich and, "as good as anybody." Try it.

LIFE IN UTAH; OR THE MYSTERIES AND CRIMES OF MORMONISM; being an expose of their secret rites and ceremonies, with a full and authentic history of Polygamy and the Mormon sect, from its origin to the present time;" by J. H. BEADLE, editor of the Salt Lake Reporter. Published by the National Publishing Co, Philadelphia, Pa.

This is not a 'sensational' work, but it is by far the most fascinating book we have read for a long time. It deals with the strangest and most fearful state of morals known to the world, and furnishes more information upon the subject of which it treats, than any other work in print.

The author, Mr. BEADLE, is well known to the public as Editor of the "Salt Lake Reporter," and Utah correspondent of the "Cincinnati Commercial." His letters from Utah were more generally read than those of any other writer, and fully warranting, as in preparing for this elaborate and carefully written work, a large and rapid sale. The book is full of the most absorbing episodes and incidents of Mormon life and mysteries, as well as of solid and practical information. The high praise which it has received from a number of members of Congress and Government Officials, by whom its publication was urged as a duty to the country, stamps it as one of the most powerful and thrilling works ever written.

The book is handsomely illustrated and issued in fine style. It is full of interest to every one; for, besides its historical features, and the mass of sound information, it goes deep into the mysteries and crimes of Mormonism. The chapters devoted to their religion, are brilliant and startling, and will be read with the greatest interest, and, we are very certain that the account of the strange rites by which converts are initiated into the Mormon faith, is not exceeded in interest by anything we have yet seen. It shows how obscene and disgusting those rites [illegible] female modesty is outraged in them, licentiousness is taught as a part of the religious creed, with odd sketches of the [illegible] showing the Mormon idea of Moth[illegible] [illegible] temptation.

Every man owes it as a duty to his [illegible] to inform himself upon this great [illegible] which must be met and settled at [illegible] day, and no better opportunity could [illegible] than this book presents. It is [illegible] subscription only, and Mr. [illegible] F. At[illegible] is the authorized agent for this [illegible] now canvassing for it.

Central Railroad, of Iowa,
235 MILES IN LENGTH
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This Company are now pushing their work forward with great rapidity, and the entire line necessary to connect St. Louis and St. Paul is graded and under contract to be finished this season. The fact that this enterprise has been undertaken by a combination of leading bankers and railroad capitalists of well known wealth, experience, and ability, insures its early completion and future success.

The road runs through the richest and most thickly settled portion of Iowa, and is built in the interests of the great Northern system of roads which centre at St. Paul. The of the Company pay 7 per cent. Gold Interest, free of Government tax, and are issued for the very small amount of $16,000 per mile. For the present, the unsold portion are offered at 95 and accrued interest. The attention of investors is invited to the fact that the road is now nearly finished, and that the Security is therefore entitled to a high rank.

In our opinion, no class of investments has been found so uniformly safe and profitable as First Mortgages on completed railroads.

Of 235 companies operating 30,000 miles of railroad in the Northern and Western States, on which there is a bonded debt of $602,000,000, we know of but two that do not pay their interest regularly.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present.

W. B. SHATTUCK,
Treasurer.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE, INVESTMENT.

MRS. MANCHESTER,

Formerly from 618 Broadway, New York, late of Portland, has arrived in Bangor, and taken rooms at the BANGOR HOUSE, where she will remain for a short time only.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form, my daughter of spinal disease of five years standing, a sister of deafness and catarrh, my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician and every way worthy of patronage.
JOHN HOBSON,
Portland, Maine.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has cured me of scrofula or hip disease of five years standing. I have consulted the best professions in the country and have derived no benefit. I called on Mrs. Manchester ten months ago, and commenced treatment, the sores, three in number, have healed and I have thrown by my crutches, and am now a well man. I am confident if I had not consulted this lady I should always have been a cripple.

Let all invalids give her a fair trial, and I have no doubt you will be benefitted.
S. T. KING.
Biddeford, May 2, 1870.

A Case of Spinal Disease Cured.

DEAR MADAME:—When you were in this place last summer, I called you to examine my case, which was spinal disease. I had not used my limbs to stand on them for three years. I have consulted eight or ten Physicians, none of them done me any good; but I still grew worse, but by your skill I am now a happy woman, as I have full power and strength of my limbs. I must say to the afflicted go and consult Mrs. Manchester, and give her a fair trial, and you will be well paid.
Very truly yours,
JANE HALL,
Lewiston, Me.

ONE OF THE GREATEST CURES ON RECORD!

This is to certify that I have been sick for five years and have been to a number of physicians, and one would tell me one thing, and another would tell me I had another disease, and then I would go to another, and he would tell me an entirely different story, until I got almost discouraged. I told the physicians that I felt as if something was eating me up inside, but they all laughed at the idea of anything of the kind and said I was nervous.—For the last two years I commenced growing very large at times, and it seemed to me that my stomach was filled up, and when I retired at night, as if something rose in my throat, and I would almost suffocate. Reading Mrs. Manchester's advertisement I was induced to go and consult her. She examined me and told me I had a live animal in my stomach. She said, "I don't know what to call it, but it is brown, and looks as much like a caterpillar as anything." She told me so correctly about my feelings that I took some of her medicine. She told me I would be very sick and so I was, I vomited for three days, and the third day I threw up something that resembled a lizard, a horrible looking thing, about three inches long, about as large as my finger, and I think I owe my life to Mrs. Manchester. She [illegible] me what no other doctor ever did or could.—My health is rapidly improving. I say to every one go and see her; don't hear what this one or that one says, but go and you will be perfectly satisfied.
D. REED, [illegible] E. KING, Portland, Me.

FARRAGUT.

BY ALBERT LAIGHTON.

Grand in his dreamless sleep our Admiral lies;
The brave heart still, so fondly loved and blest;
The light gone forth from those prophetic eyes,
The guiding hand at rest.

His star in glory set—his great work done—
Muffle the drum and toll the solemn bell;
And let the deep voice of the minute gun
A people's sorrow toll.

A friend who failed not in the darkest hour;
A valiant soul who, at his Country's call,
Battled with Treason born of lust and power,
And triumphed over all.

One noble life the less for Heaven to take;
One hero more passed from this land of ours;
Lay fairest garlands on his bier, and make
Death beautiful with flowers.

A nation's heart shall be his funeral urn,
While time shall add new lustre to his fame;
And Freedom's fires with holier light shall burn
Where'er is breathed his name.

ALL SORTS AND SIZES.

The Second Adventists continue to hold their annual conventions, and they still predict an immediate end to the world, though they fail to explain how an immediate "end" to a spherical body is possible.

A desponding paper "doesn't take much stock in this base ball folly, but hopes all who can pray will remember the Elyria sports in their morning and evening devotions. Their eagerness to give and accept challenges, before learning how to play the game, is bringing the town into disrepute."

THE OTTAWA FIRE.—Novel readers devour with thrilling interest, Fenimore Cooper's description of fire in the prairies, but the prosaic facts of the fire recently raging in the neighborhood of Ottawa, mock the dramatic efforts of the novelists. The want of rain turned every thing above ground into combustible material, and prepared the way for the destroying angel, which hurled its fiery battalions around the outskirts of the city for many days.

In the centre of the Hull township, we are told by the Ottawa Times, there is a district four miles by two, on which neither a house nor a fence had been left standing. On the Ontario side of the Ottawa, in Nepean township, the progress of the fire was arrested by the cutting of Lewis' dam, which flooded the country to a depth of about three feet.

Many families in the burnt districts have lost all they possessed, except their land, and it is known that many persons have suffered an agonizing death. The Ottawa Times tells of an old man named James Pink, who was riding out in a buggy for safety, with his sister-in-law, when they were overtaken by the suffocating smoke, and the old gentleman fell to the ground and perished in the pursuing flames, while his companion with difficulty made her escape. In many cases the inhabitants saved some portions of their goods by burying them in the earth.

SOUND PHILOSOPHY.—A good anecdote is told of a celebrated English Divine, that being visited one morning in his study, he was asked by his friend:

"Doctor, why do you sit in such a little place as this? You have not room enough to swing a cat."

"I do not want to swing a cat, sir," was the reply.

What volumes of philosophy are comprehended in this answer? the true secret of happiness lies, after all, not so much in gratifying our desires, as in conforming them to our actual situation. It is the longing restless desire to obtain something out of reach, that makes so many lives miserable. It is said of an ancient philosopher, that on beholding the splendors of a great palace, he cried out, "How many things there are here that Diogenes does not want!" How few persons thus distinguish between the desirable things of life and its actual needs?

TRIBUNE HIEROGLYPHICS.—A lecture committee in Pennsylvania sought to make an engagement with Horace Greeley, and received an answer as follows, as near as could be made out:—

NEW YORK.

Dear Sir:—I am vaccinated and yawning at Ishmael; he surely is not fishing shad all the while at Sim's; but I wrote a line to fetch her forth; deception is thus underrated viciously if Idaho falls. Carrots promises to write perhaps spirits are needed—entirely; my boy, Bores. HORACE GREELEY.

ADDRESS

TO THE

NERVOUS

DEBILITATED,

Whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable: If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? or does a thick skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be let alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the luster of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear of such men being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they never become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S

SEC. 24. And be it further enacted, That for the term of two years from and after the passage of this act, and no longer, machinery and apparatus designed only for, and adapted to be used for, steam-towage on canals, and not now manufactured in the United States, may be imported by any State, or by any person duly authorized by the legislature of any State, free of duty, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. And also that for the term of two years from and after the passage of this act, and no longer, steam-plow machinery, adapted to the cultivation of the soil, may be imported by any person for his own use, free of duty, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

SEC. 25. And be it further enacted, That the word "saltpetre," as used in section seven of the act of March three, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, allowing drawback of duty on foreign saltpetre manufactured into gunpowder in the United States, and exported therefrom, shall be construed to mean that element of nitre so used, whether it be the nitrate of potash or nitrate of soda.

SEC. 26. And be it further enacted, That section fifteen of the act approved July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act increasing, temporarily, the duties on imports, and for other purposes," and section four of the act amendatory thereof, approved March three, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, be, and the same are hereby, so amended, that no ship, vessel, steamer, boat, barge, or flat belonging to any citizen of the United States, trading from one port or point within the United States to another port or point within the United States, or employed in the bank, whale, or other fisheries, shall hereafter be subject to the tonnage tax or duty provided for in said acts; and the proviso in section one hundred and three of the "Act to provide internal revenue to support the government and to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved June thirty, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, requiring an annual special tax to be paid by boats, barges, and flats, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 26. And be it further enacted, That all imported goods, wares, and merchandise which may be in the public stores or bonded warehouses on the day and year this act shall take effect, shall be subjected to no other duty upon the entry thereof for consumption than if the same were imported respectively after that day; and all goods, wares and merchandise remaining in bonded warehouses on the day and year this act shall take effect, and upon which the duties shall have been paid, shall be entitled to a refund of the difference between the amount of duties paid and the amount of duties said goods, wares, and merchandise would be subject to if the same were imported respectively after that day.

SEC. 27. And be it further enacted, That all provisions of existing laws whereby any tax or duty is laid upon legacies or devises, or transfers by deed, grant, or gift, made or intended to take effect after the death of the grantor, of any real or personal property, in trust or otherwise, for public uses of a literary, educational, or charitable character, or upon any real or personal estate which may become subject to any trust as aforesaid under any past or future disposition, which, if made in favor of an individual, would confer on him a succession, be, and the same are hereby repealed, and no taxes heretofore levied thereunder, but not paid, shall be collected.

SEC. 28. And be it further enacted, That in all cases where tobacco is required to be put up in wooden packages, as provided in section sixty-two of an act entitled "An act imposing taxes on distilled spirits and tobacco, and for other purposes," approved July twenty, eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, it shall be lawful for the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to allow the same to be put up in metallic packages: Provided, That they shall be so constructed with such corrugations for receiving and protecting the revenue stamps as the Commissioner may approve.

SEC. 29. And be it further enacted, That whenever any merchandise, except wine, distilled spirits, and perishable or explosive articles, or articles in bulk, imported at the ports of New York, in the State of New York; Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania; Boston, in the State of Massachusetts; Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; Portland, in the State of Maine; Port Huron, in the State of Michigan; New Orleans, in the State of Louisiana; and San Francisco, in the State of California, shall appear by the invoice or bill of lading and by the manifest to be consigned to and destined for either of the ports specified in section thirty-five of this act, the collector at the port of arrival shall permit the owner, agent or consignee to make entry therefor for warehouse or immediate transportation, in triplicate, setting forth the particulars in such entry and the route by which such goods are to be forwarded, whether by land or water. The entry having been compared with the invoice and duly sworn to, and such an examination of the goods and merchandise having been made as will satisfy the customs officers that the same corresponds with the manifest and invoice, and the duties estimated on the value and quantity of the invoice, and on the execution of a bond as hereinafter provided, the collector shall deliver the same to be immediately transported to such port of destination, at the sole cost and risk of such owner, agent, or consignee [illegible] merchandise imported to [illegible] entry, and designed for [illegible] thirty-fifth section of [illegible] port shall give priority [illegible] of said goods and merchandise [illegible] warding the same to [illegible] said examination shall [illegible] tation of said goods [illegible] house or appraiser's [illegible] entered for immediate [illegible] subject to appraisement [illegible] the port of first arrival [illegible] such examination as the [illegible] shall deem necessary to [illegible] that the same examination [illegible] shall be required and [illegible] tion as would have been [illegible] nal importation if such [illegible] ed for consumption or [illegible]

SEC. 30. And be it further [illegible] required by the foregoing [illegible] sum of at least double the [illegible] chandise, with the duties [illegible] and with such number of [illegible] as shall be prescribed by [illegible] sury; and the said sureties [illegible] taken before the collector [illegible] the said bond, in an amount [illegible] ality of the bond, and the [illegible] to their sufficiency, and [illegible] cuted at the port of final [illegible] ted to the collector at the [illegible] vided by [illegible] of March [illegible] and thirty-one.
